NO SETTLEMENT CARMEN'S STRIKE

CONFERENCE YESTERDAY FAILED TO RESULT IN ANY AGREEMENT ACCEPTABLE TO STRIKERS

MEN HUNTING OTHER JOBS

Not Expected that Railroad Company Will Accede to Strikers Demands Soon

The conference between officials of the Wichita Falls Route and representatives of the striking carmen which was in progress yesterday at press time was devoid of results so far as any agreement by which the men would return to work was concerned.

The strike is now on indefinitely and many of the strikers are arranging for other jobs, while the railroad company is bringing in men to fill their places from Denison and other points.

Most of the strikers have little hopes of winning soon and for this reason are seeking other jobs. Many of them went out with little hope of winning all they contended for and struck from a sense of duty to their fellow members of the Brotherhood at points on the Katy.

In the final conference yesterday the carmen offered to repair all work originating in the Wichita Falls yard and all bad order cars that originated in transit after they had passed the last inspector on the M. K. & T. provided they would not be required to repair bad order Katy cars shipped in or originating outside the yard limits here and that they be not required to do any wreck work on the M. K. & T. outside the yard limits here.

SEVERE STORM IN SOUTHWEST TEXAS

Hail and Wind Causes Damage in Vicinity of Coleman and Brownwood

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Texas, Sept 20—Reports from last night's storm section about Brownwood and Coleman make it practically certain no lives were lost. The West Texas Telephone company reports that much damage was done at Coleman by a severe hail-storm which broke nearly all windows in the city. At Winchell there was a severe wind-storm

San Angelo and Ballinger had heavy windstorms and hail, but there was no tornado at those points.

Hard Luck Storm of the First Order.

By Associated Press.

Brownwood, Texas, Sept 20—A hard luck storm of the first order struck the vicinity of Coleman, Texas, last night. It did $100,000 damage to crops, but failed to precipitate enough rain to relieve the drouth

Coleman is still suffering from a water famine today. Not far from Coleman, at Brookesmith, there was a five inch rainfall, but before the rain hail fattened out thousands of dollars worth of crops The hail stones were reported to be terrifying in size They stripped about eight bales of cotton in one field alone.

At Winchell the Methodist church was demolished by wind and the Baptist church was moved eight feet off its foundations.

At Coleman Junction the section house was unroofed

LANE QUOTES LAW TO LIQUOR DEALERS

Parent Unable to Authorize Sale of Minors, He Says. Declaration by Minor No Defense

Austin, Texas, Sept 20.—Controller Lane advises that he is in receipt of a number of letters from citizens throughout the State calling his attention to the fact that cerain saloonkeepers are violating the law by selling intoxicating liquors to minors upon receipt of written authority from the parents of these minors. He stid:

"It appears that many of the saloonkeepers themselves are under the impression that they can legally sell intoxicating liquors to a minor when the said minor brings along written authority from his parents authorizing the saloonkeeper to make the sale. This is an error as the law absolutely prohibits the sale or gift of intoxicating liquors, either by the saloonkeeper himself or his agent, to any person under the age of 21 years under any circumstances, and any liquor dealer who sells, permits to be sold or given intoxicating liquor to a minor, does so at his own risk.

"There also seems to be an impression among the saloonkeepers that when a minor comes into his saloon and attempts to purchase liquor and is required by the saloonkeeper to give his age and in doing so he assures the saloonkeeper that he is 21 years of age, that when the sale is made under these circumstances the saloonkeeper incurs no liability. Such is not the law. The law makes it the duty of the saloonkeeper, whatever may be the representation of the customer, when there is any question of doubt as to his minority, to ascertain the truth about his age before making the sale, and if the saloonkeeper does make the sale without taking this precaution and it afterwards developed that he has sold to a minor, he subjects his license to forfeiture.

"A more strict observance of this provision of the law will keep many liquor dealers out of serious trouble in the conduct of their business."

$70,000 STOLEN FROM A TRAIN

FOLLOWING SENSATIONAL HOLD-UPS PASSENGER TRAIN ON L. AND N. ROBBED NEAR PENSACOLA, FLA.

TAKEN FROM A PACKAGE

Slips of Paper Substituted for Bills—Money Was to Pay Railroad Employees

By Associated Press.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 20—Following closely a series of robberies by highwaymen on railroads in the South, the westbound Louisville & Nashville train was robbed Wednesday between Pensacola and Flomanton, Alabama.

It is reported that $70,000 was stolen from express packages sent from Pensacola banks to Flomanton for payment of employes of the Louisville & Nashville railroad in that district.

The passenger train left Pensacola at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning, carrying in the express car $75,000 in currency from a local bank for the railroad men at Flomaton.

The sealed packages containing this sum are said to have been properly receipted for by express agents and messenger, but when delivery was made to the railroad authorities at Flomaton, it is said only $5000 of the shipment remained in the bundles. The $70,000 is said to have been carefully extracted from the packages and slips of paper, cut from magazines were substituted.

The shipment is said to have consisted principally of bills of small denomination

Cotton Leaf Caterpillar.

By Associated Press

Austin, Texas, Sept 20—E A Miller, assistant entomogist of the Texas Department of Agriculture who has just returned from Dublin, Texas, where he went to investigate the ravages of certain moths upon peaches said today The moths which are doing damage to late peaches were found to be mostly those producing the cotton leaf caterpillar There are two methods of control against these moths The first is the trap jug system by means of lights placed above shallow vessels containing water with a film of oil on top The other is to use poisoned bait, such as apples or over ripe peaches which have been mashed up

ON TRAIL WITH BLOODHOUNDS

SCORES OF SOLDIERS SEARCHING AT HEAD OF CARBON CREEK FOR INCENDIARIES

SURPRISED BY SENTRY

Men Who Were Attempting to Set Fire to Coal Tipple and Residence of Superintendent Flee

By Associated Press.

Charleston, West Va., Sept. 20—Scores of soldiers with blood hounds are searching the mountains today at the head of Carbon creek for the men who at midnight tried to set fire to the tipple of the South Carbon Coal Company, and the residence of Charles Cable, superintendent of the mine.

Creeping along the paths in a dense forest, unknown persons passed through the lines of guardsmen and making their way to the tipple, saturated portions of it with oil and were ready to apply a match when they were discovered by a sentry, who fired his gun.

The men ran along a railroad for a short distance and then disappeared in the woods. A few minutes later a man was seen trying to set fire to the Cable residence nearby. He also was fired upon, but escaped.

The military forces were reinforced today by an infantry company, bringing the total number of soldiers at Carbon creek to 250. Private Chas. Campbell of Parkersburg, who was mistaken for an intruder by a sentry at Cherokee last night and was shot before he could make his identity known, was improved today. His recovery is expected.

WOMAN WROTE THE PHOTOGRAPHED LETTERS.

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 20.—A woman wrote the letter to Mrs. Lena Sneed, the finding of which caused her husband, Beal Sneed, slayer of A. G. Boyce and A. G. Boyce Jr., to have a photographic copy of the letter made and then disappear, to reappear only after he had taken the life of his second victim in the family warfare that began last year when the younger Boyce eloped with Mrs. Sneed from Fort Worth, where she had been confined in a sanitarium as insane, after she had told her husband that she was in love with Boyce.

Information that the letter was written by a woman came from one of the Dallas persons who, by reason of the fact that Sneed and his wife spent some time in that city after their reconciliation last summer, became acquainted with some of the important facts in the case.

The woman who wrote the letter is connected by blood with one of the principals in the tragic drama, and the letter, it is claimed, contained messages from young Boyce to Mrs. Sneed.

That letter, it will be claimed, was the direct cause of the tragedy last Saturday, when on the main street of Amarillo, Beal Sneed, bearded and dressed so his close friends did not recognize him, shot to death young Boyce before, so it is claimed, the latter knew who was firing the shots that caused his instant death.

If that contention be true, then the only position to assume is that Mrs Sneed herself caused the killing of the man for love of whom she left two children and her husband and daring the criticism and scorn of the world, fled to Canada

Why the letter was not destroyed probably always will remain a mystery for Mrs Sneed cannot testify against her husband in the murder case against him.

It is thought most likely that sentiment alone caused the procrastination that proved so dangerous. Messages from Boyce to the wife of the man who killed his father this year necessarily must have been few and far between, and if Mrs. Sneed loved Al Boyce, as it seems she must have loved him, it is not hard to understand why she would retain anything that bore news of him or carried the thought of him.

The second possibility is that the messages were disguised in some way that Mrs Sneed thought would make them safe, even though the letter should be discovered. If such was the case she had failed to reckon with the discernment of a husband made more than jealous by her actions, and she has on one to blame for the death of Boyce except herself

There is a third possibility She may have ceased to love Boyce and turned the letter over to her husband That theory seems least probable of the three, for if such had been the case it seems unlikely that Sneed would have exacted the life of Boyce as toll after having slain the young man's father, and further, it appears that Mrs Sneed would have been allowed to go to her husband's side in Amarillo after he had slain his former friend.

The solution of the question, one of the most interesting of the many that have developed since the shooting last Saturday, probably will come only after the case against Sneed is on trial, and until then surmise undoubtedly will be strictly in order.

RECALL OF PRESIDENTS ROOSEVELT'S PLAN

Colonel Makes Declaration in Campaign Speech at Denver, Colorado—Replies to Bryan

Denver, Colo., Sept. 20.—A declaration in favor of the recall of the president was made in the auditorium last night by Col. Roosevelt. If he were elected president, he said, and found his views in opposition to those of the people he would take the stump in defense of his policies and would quit office if he could not win the support of the electorate.

Col. Roosevelt's declaration was made in reply to a question by William J. Bryan, who in a recent speech at Pueblo, Colo., asked

"How many terms may the president of the United States have?"

"As far as I am concerned," Col. Roosevelt said, "I should be glad to have the recall for the president. This is merely an expression of my personal feelings. My own experience was that I could do nothing as president except when the people were heartily with me. Under such conditions I would prefer to leave the presidency, unless in fair, open fighting on the stump I could bring the people around to my way of thinking.

"As to the number of non-consecutive terms a President might have every argument in favor of any limitation of the terms of the president can refer only to consecutive terms. Any third term talk which refers to non-consecutive terms is an utter absurdity."

Col. Roosevelt's position was indicated in an earlier speech, in which he said that he never felt comfortable in refusing to do what the people wished him to do.

"It is my object, if I am in public life," he said, "to follow the wishes of the people, but never do anything against my conscience."

One by one Col. Roosevelt took up other questions Col Bryan has asked, five in all. First, "Will you explain to the people the circumstances connected with the writing of your letter to Mr. Harriman in which you addressed him as 'My dear Mr. Harriman,' and called yourselves 'both practical men?'"

Col. Roosevelt said he had already gone over this matter time after time and that "if Mr. Bryan understands words of one syllable he must have understood his letter to Senator Clapp in regard to the Senate investigation of campaign contributions."

In reply to the question, 'What issues do you have in your platform that you did not borrow from the Democratic platform?" Col. Roosevelt responded, "All of them."

"Why did you put State issues, such as the initiative and the referendum, in your National platform?" was the next question

Col Roosevelt replied that the initiative and referendum were both National and State issues

To the question "What is the interest of George W. Perkins in your campaign?" Col. Roosevelt replied that Mr Perkins had joined the movement because he believed it offered a solution of problems which must be solved to insure the continued welfare of the people

STANDARD CROWD STILL MEET DAILY

DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS OF DISSOLVED SUBSIDIARIES LUNCH TOGETHER

VEIT ON WITNESS STAND

Declares Interlocking Directorates, Exchange of Plans and Business Conference Completely Abolished

By Associated Press.

New York, Sept. 20.—In a dining room at 26 Broadway and at the same table where the heads of the Standard Oil planned and discussed the affairs of the trust in years gone by, there meet daily at luncheon now the men who directed the Standard Oil Company formerly.

So testified Richard C. Veit, in the hearing of the Standard-Waters-Pierce suit today.

"Who meets there?" asked Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Waters-Pierce interests.

Veit replied, "I don't know all of them."

"Does John D. Archbold still sit at that table?"

"Yes."

"Does Percy Rockefeller?"

"Yes."

Veit named numerous other oil men as attending these luncheons.

"Don't these men discuss their business there daily?" asked Untermyer.

"No."

"You hear them talking, don't you?"

"Yes, they talk on generalities. I hear them laughing and joking."

"How long have you been listening to them as they talked and joked and laughed?"

"Since last December."

This line of questioning met with vigorous objection from the Standard Oil lawyers, and Mr. Untermyer, in reply, dictated the following statement for the record:

"The purpose of this questioning is to show the sham and humbug with which these people who have been segregated into these various companies, meet here daily for the transaction of their business, just as they have met every day in years gone by."

Mr. Veit added in his testimony that the late H H. Rogers sat at this table and that the Rockfellers always took luncheon there whenever they were in town.

Interlocking directorates, consultations, financial plans and exchange of views between the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and its former subsidiary companies comprising the oil trust which the United States Supreme court ordered dissolved, have been abolished utterly, according to the testimony of Richard G. Veit in the hearing today.

Since the dissolution Mr. Veit said both the New York and the New Jersey companies have begun the construction of fleets of oil schooners to compete for trade Several vessels are already under construction by the New York company. The New Jersey company is building a fleet in Germany. Before the dissolution the witness said the New York company could get oil from any other Standard Oil subsidiary merely by requisition.

"But we have to buy our oil now," he said, "wherever we can get it and on the best termes we can make. We have to go into open market for 5,500,000 barrels a year. We sell eight million barrels abroad and two million for domestic use annually, but produce only 4,500,000 barrels."

48 At Amarillo.

By Associated Press

Amarillo, Texas, Sept. 20—This city is in the grip of what promises to be one of the coldest September snaps in its history. At daylight this morning a strong norther began and soon attained a strength of fifty miles an hour, and the temperature dropped to forty-eight degrees. There may possibly be a frost tonight.

Chilly Norther Here.

A norther blew in at noon today that has kept the stove man's telephone a jingling constantly since its arrival and has driven the mercury down to the 65 degree mark.

Very chilly weather is reported from Panhandle points where a frost is expected tonight and a further drop in temperature is expected here.

Failure to comply with the law's formalities delayed Oscar Vaughan of Dundee in claiming Miss Myrtle Hamilton of Electra Mr Vaughan applied for a license this morning and produced a note furnished from Miss Hamilton's parents giving consent to the wedding, she being under age. The note of consent however had not been acknowledged before a notary and the license could not be issued until this had been done. Mr Vaughan left to secure the required acknowledgement.

DEMAND FOR LABORERS OUTRUNS THE SUPPLY

Freight Congestion Results from Inability to Secure Labor to Handle Shipments

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Sept 20—Never before in the history of Texas it is said today, has there been such a shortage in labor as is shown in certain lines.

From all over the cotton belt comes the demand for pickers and agents of growers are here in force on a hunt for help in the field. Railroads are daily finding more of their equipment tied up owing to inability to get cars unloaded. It is said that at several Texas points sidings near compresses are choked with loaded cotton cars, with no workers to dump the bales.

Here in Houston, compresses have ample room, but sidings about them continue to choke up with loaded cars. Additional conferences were held here today to try to relieve the congestion. The refusal of negroes and others to accept work when offered has brought about a rigid campaign here against all men who decline work, and Recorder Kirlicks is daily confronted in police court with a large crop of vagrants. The determination is to force all idle men who decline to labor to the county farms.

LEOPOLD MORRIS

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SNEED TRIAL

By Associated Press

Amarillo, Texas, Sept. 20—The lack of new developments in the Sneed case has not materially abated the interest in that case Relatives and friends continue to arrive, and it is probable that practically the entire realtionship of Sneed and Boyce, together with their close friends will be here in advance of Monday's habeas corpus hearing.

Although Sneed and his counsel say they have implicit faith that the application for bail will be granted, the State declares bail will not be granted

Sneed still maintains absolute silence regarding the tragedy.

MAY SELL PART BELLEVUE PARK

PROPOSED TO INVEST PROCEEDS IN SEVEN SISTERS BLOCK IF DEAL IS FEASIBLE

COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

Reading of Ordinances Took up Most of Session—Building Permits Ordinance Proposed

The city council last night discussed a proposal for the sale of half of the Belleville Park on Ninth street and the purchase of the seven sisters block with the proceeds. No definite action was taken but Mayor Bell was authorized to look into the proposition and see whether such a deal could be made.

It was estimated that a half of the Bellevue park site would bring eight or nine thousand dollars and this amount would go a long way toward aying for the seven sisters block. It was advanced in favor of the propsition that the seven sisters block would be nearer the larger number of people who would take advantage of its opportunities for recreation offered by a park and that trees and other plants could be grown thereon much more easily than on the hill.

In this connection it developed that the members of the council favored a number of small parks scattered over the city where they would be easy of access rather than one or two large parks which could not be reached so easily by a great majority of the people.

The Bellevue Park site was granted to the city by R E Montgomery, the man who sold the townsite. His approval of the sale and the re-investment of the money will be necessary for the proposed deal.

The second readings of the two ordinances took up most of the time of council at its session last night. One of these ordinances extends the fire limits of the city to the alley running between Lamar and Scott Avenue and to Sixth street and to Tenth street. The other ordinance is for the regulation of street signs and awnings. The new ordinance provides that all signs must be at least seven and a half feet above the sidewalk. It also prohibits swinging or suspended signs

Another ordinance creating the office city scavenger and regulating the disposal of garbage and the maintenance of closets,etc. was passed over for its third reading until the next regular meeting.

The city attorney was instructed to draft a building permits ordinance. This ordinance will require that a permit be taken out before new buildings or extensive repairs on old buildings are made. It was the agreement among members of council that no fees should be charged for such permits.

The chief of police was instructed to enforce the ordinance limiting merchants to a space of thirty inches from the building line on the sidewalks for display of goods for advertising purposes only.

The matter came up on the question of operating vending wagons A license of $150 per year is charged for the operations of such wagons.

Answers to notices to property owners to install sewerage connections were read The most numerous reasons given why sewerage connections had not been made were "no water in the block" and inability to get money with which to defray the cost of the improvement.

GOOD BILL AT THE LAMAR AIRDOME

One of the best pleased audiences of the season saw the show at the Lamar airdome last night. It was kept in an almost continuous uproar of laughter.

Coffer and LeMar put on an act that certainly reached the funny bones of the audiences and brought forth more laughter than anything of the season. Their act was entirely different from the average run of vaudeville. Mr. Coffer is a decidedly clever comedian but he is not the whole team by any means. Miss LeMar's impersonations of the country girl and her dancing made a decided hit.

Wall and Kid who presented a novelty act were also out of the ordinary

Both of these teams will put on entirely new acts tonight. Coffer and Lemar will appear in a blackface act and Wall and Kid will give a Jewish impersonation act.

The feature picture tonight will be Derby Day at Churchill Downs. This is the story of a Kentucky race horse, the pictures being taken from life on Derby Day at Lexington, Ky.

NEWS FROM OIL FIELDS

The Marriott-Bickley-Miller section of the Electra field fairly bristles with activity at present and is by far the liveliest part of the field. Where sixty days ago, there were only three derricks, one can now count thirty-six rigs, derricks and drilling wells. Only five wells have been completed on these three tracts.

The Producers yesterday drilled in a good well on the Skinner tract just north of Electra, which it is said will go far towards holding up the production in that section of the field The new well is good for about 120 barrels.

Rotary rigs are getting to be almost a curiosity in the Electra neighborhood and there are probably not over two or three at work in the entire field, though some of the operators at Petrolia still seem to prefer them to the cable drills . Some of the rotary men were heard to say recently that it was up to them to learn to work the standard rigs or seek other fields where the sentiment against the rotary was less pronounced.

Lew Gorham is back in town after a ten days trip to Eastern points.

The third fatal accident since oil was discovered at Electra occurred Wednesday when Tom Jordan, working for Baker and Ralston, was crushed by a beam which had become loosened. The flying timber caught him about the head and shoulders and death was almost instantaneous The body was sent last night to Dequeen, Arkansas for burial.

W. F. Ward, L. C. Hivick, L. Harben and Charles Clark have organized the Creston Oil Company which will take out a charter shortly It is understood this concern will operate on the J. A. Fisher property in the Red River country and that members of the company already have considerable acreage under lease.

The report that oil had been found in paying quantities in the Big Pasture well near Loveland, Oklahoma, appears to have been unfounded, and drilling is still in progress there Slow headway is being made on this well on account of its distance from the supply houses, but the work is being carried on steadily.

The Pierce-Fordyce Company is expected to begin work shortly on the construction of a new 55,000 barrel tank at Electra to replace that destroyed a number of weeks ago At present the Pierce-Fordyce has less than three thousand barrels of oil in storage at Electra.

WOMEN BATTLE FOR POLITICAL SUPREMACY

Willette Kershaw Opens Western Campaign While Mrs. J. Borden Harriman Fights in East

New York, Sept. 20—Following the announcement that Jane Adams of Chicago would take the stump in behalf of Col Roosevelt, Miss Willette Kershaw the founder of the professional Women's Wilson and Marshall League, called a meeting of her fellow workers at the 71st Regiment Armory in New York last Saturday afternoon at which plans were formulated by conteract the arguments of the Women Progressives in the west headed by Jane Adams.

It was decided that the most effective method of combating the arguments of the "Moosettes" would be to compare Woodrow Wilson's record of twenty months in office with Roosevelt's seven years.

Miss Kershaw will not touch the tariff question as Mrs. Harriman, the New York society leader is devoting her activities exclusively to this issue, making daily speeches in the east and sending literature throughout the country. Before leaving on her special car for Chicago last evening Miss Kershaw gave out the following letter:

"The campaign conducted by the professional Women's Wilson and Marshall League in the New England States during the past three weeks has been successful beyond our wildest dreams. I found that in the factories employing child labor there existed a total ignorance of the magnificent child labor legislature enacted by Gov. Wilson in New Jersey"

"In the West our efforts will be devoted principally to the child labor question although we will tell of the great benefits of the different factory laws that have been enacted in New Jersey during Wilson's administration such as the laws relating to the employment of women wage earners, the compelling of adequate fire protection in factories and schools and the hours in which children should work in the varitus industries.

"We will show the benefits of the workingmen's compensation act which provides definite sums for injuries and for debts involving varied relations; in other words we will put Wilson's record up against Roosevelt's and let our audience judge for themselves.

"We are having moving pictures made showing by comparison the former miserable conditions in the factory homes in New Jersey and the present conditions. Its up to the workingmen to cast his vote for the man who has done so much in his own state to better conditions and I believe the way to reach this vote is through the wife or mother or sister upon whom the greatest burden falls."

Miss Kershaw will conduct an active campaign in Chicago for the next two weeks and will assign speakers from the New York headquarters to the western territory.

FAITH HEALER HAD PLENTY OF DUPES

Revolting Stories Told by Young Women and Girl Patients—Healer Arrested

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The testimony of three young girls and a young wife resulted in Henry C. Oertle of Chicago Heights, an alleged "faith healer" being held to the grand jury today on a serious charge Ella Borman, 15 years old, was the complaining witness. She reluctantly told a revolting story of the alleged practices of the "healer." She declared that Oertle claimed to have power by which he could direct the future of his patients, even when they were miles away

Others who testified to similar alleged practices were Mrs. Maud Johnson, 19 years old; Nettie Levitt, 16 years old, and Lizzie Albright, 17 years old.

OSCAR STRAUS DANGEROUS MAN

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS REALIZE THAT THEY FACE BATTLE OF THEIR LIVES

JEWS WILL VOTE FOR HIM

And There are 1,250,000 of Them in New York—Prominent Democrat Sends a Warning

New York, Sept 20—Since the nomination of Oscar S Straus for governor of New York on the Bull Moose ticket, leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties are at sea as to the outcome of the November election, so far as the state tickets are concerned

They admit that the nomination of Mr. Straus has injected an altogether unlooked for element if danger to both the old parties because of his standing in the community as a business man, diplomat and philanthropist.

That he will add strength to the third party movement is admitted From which of the old parties he will derive most of his strength is the unknown quantity, and it is this uncertainty that is causing Democratic and Republican leaders no little concern.

A political sage whose predictions of political events have been rarely inaccurate, a Democrat known as well in Missouri, as in New York, but who, because of his prominence in the party asked that his name be not used, has made this statement concerning the result of the elections in this state:

"Do not delude yourself in the belief that the Democratic party in this state is going to have a walkover. I expect Gov. Wilson will carry New York, but to carry the state ticket through will be a much more difficult task.

"Oscar Straus will poll a tremendous vote. He is well liked and deservedly so. He is a man of the highest integrity in business; he served the Federal government as minister to Turkey with honor to both. His work in Turkey was an extremely delicate one, yet he handled matters so diplomatically that missionary schools which had been closed for a year, were reopened only sixty days after his arrival at Constantinople and the right of missionaries to distribute Bibles, which had been prohibited, was granted.

"For this act he received the thanks of the British government and he was commanded by his own.

"Mr. Straus is a Jew and while many regard this as a weakness, I claim that it is his greatest strength. Did you ever stop to think that there are a million and a quarter Jews in New York? This is a greater number than have ever been assembled in any community in the history of the world not even excepting the days of Solomon.

"Now consider the influence these million and a quarter must exert. To begin with they have a voting strength of not less than a quarter of a million. They will vote almost as a unit for the elevation of one of their own to the highest office in the state. What is more, they will trade Wilson for Straus, Taft for Straus and Roosevelt for Straus. They will exhaust all their energies and make any sacrifice to bring about the election of their co religionist.

"And what is more Mr. Straus will get his full share of those who are not of his faith because of his record, not only in Turkey, but during his entire career, public and private Since the death of his brother, Isadore Straus and the latter's wife who went down with the Titanic, Oscar Straus has found many sympathizers because of his well known devotion of each member of the Straus family to the others.'

We desire to inform our patrons that we have moved our office from the Kemp and Kell building to the Orth building, 811 Indiana, where we will be pleased to have them call.

CREDITS MENTIONED BY INSURANCE BOARD

Austin Will Obtain Maximum Reduced Rate Allowed for Record of Low Fire Loss Ratio

Among the several amendments to the general basis schedule adopted by the State Insurance Board is one which provides a credit of 1 per cent on key rates "for teaching in all public schools the principles of fire insurance and methods of fire prevention from some standard and reliable text book or work on the subject."

"For the maintenance of a solvent standing reward by any city or town any civic or commercial or other organization of a sum equal to $1 for each hundred population, such reward in no cases to be less than $100 for the arrest and conviction of any one guilty of arson a 2 per cent credit is given on the key rate

This credit is applicable only when placards are properly posted at all times in all public buildings in the city or town, showing that such reward is offered by any party other than the city or town, the party offering same must file a good and solvent bond with the State Insurance Board guaranteeing the prompt payment of the reward

With reference to the co insurance requirements, an amendment is adopted also. The schedule now provides 80 per cent co-insurance in towns with a key rate of 40c or less. Where there is less than 80 per cent the insured is penalized and must pay higher rates according to the graduated scale Regular rates prevail where there is 80 per cent or more on the risk The new arrangement will give credit above the regular rate of 80 per cent is exceeded, the amendment reading.

"Rates on above classes being used on the basis of 80 per cent reduced rate and co-insurance clause, the following credits may be given where a higher percentage reduced rate and for co-insurance clause is attached to policies For use of 85 per cent reduced rate and co-insurance clause, deduct from the final rate 3 per cent; for use of 90 per cent reduced rate any co insurance clause, reduct from the final rate 5 per cent."

This takes off a percentage instead of any cents and is more considerable often than if made the other way.

There are also amendments cutting down rates on boarding houses, oil tanks, cotton seed oil mills and other classes.

The city of Austin, which is suing for a general reduction, will probably be able to obtain the maximum reduced rate allowed for record showing low fire loss and ratio. However, Austin is also after complete elimination of the co-insurance clause The city authorities of Austin must perfect the fire record. The data is then to be presented to the board when reductions will be ordered. For every 5 per cent or fraction thereof less than 55 per cent loss ratio for the three calendar years next preceding in any town a 3 per cent credit is given, the maximum being 15 per cent Austin will doubtless make an effort to get the full 15 per cent—Austin Statesman.

Practical Engineering Courses For Practical Workers

For a number of years courses in civil, mechanical and electrical engineering have been offered to young men in the State who would come to the University of Texas and take the work; for the past two years a number of studies in these same courses have been offered by correspondence to young men who hoped later to take engineering degrees and who could fulfil the proper entrance requirements These thorough degree courses will still be offered But it is now proposed, in addition to offer similar courses, abridged and modified to suit the practical needs of the man who is already making his living as a dynamo tender, a stationery engineer or a building contractor the man who never expects to go to school again but who wants to rise in his profession. Such an applicant will not be asked if he is a graduate of an affiliated high school or if he can write graceful English or even if he can spell, according to Webster, the names of the tools he handles Instead, he will be given practical instruction about the fundamental principles of his craft In all about twenty practical courses will be offered by the correspondence method, including mechanical drawing, architecture, with some electrical, mechanical and civil engineering

We are far from discouraging legitimate sports. Men as well as boys must have recreation, and clean games are to be approved, but the ordinary pool room these days is far from ideal in respect to health or morals.—Fort Worth Record.

The boys who make the pool halls their rendezvous are not the boys that are likely to be called upon by responsible concerns to hold positions of trust

We know of a man in a city who repainted his home It looked so nice that the city assessor raised the assessment on the place $250. The man who owned a vacant lot next door raised the price of that lot a hundred dollars—and got the advance. But did the city raise the assessment on that lot? Oh, no; it isn't the custom. Enterprise and public spirt should not be taxed.—Waco Tribune

It's the same the world over. The fellow who tries to do the right thing not only has to pay for the improvements, but has to stand for the extra tax. This, to some extent at least, accounts for so many people allowing their premises to go down instead of keeping them looking fresh and new. The tax assessor and the board of equalizers are on the job, and they reason that if a fellow has money to spend on a little extra paint, he should stand for a raise on the value of his property.

Anothr sad tragedy in the Boyce-Sneed drama was enacted in Amarillo Saturday afternoon when J. B Sneed shot and instantly killed Al Boyce, shooting him with a shot gun loaded with buckshot. This is one of the most sensational stories of domestic infelicity that hase ever gone out to the world from Texas. Its loathsome details have been hared to the world in mammoth headlines of the daily press and really the importance of the case has been exaggerated. All parties connected with the case have some wealth, but none of them approach anywhere near the millionaire class, and certainly none of them are entitled to distinction from any other cause. Both fasmilies in the sad affair have always ranked in the respectable class but are nothing more than ordinary people. None of them have ever rendered any great service to the state or nation, nor have any of them ever, in the past, distinguished themselves in any commendable way. Then why attach so much importance to their disgraceful family troubles.—Childress Post

The Times is glad the Post has asked that question, though it may never be answered

The Times is not particularly an admirer of Roosevelt. All it hopes he will accomplish in this presidential contest is that he will finish a good second over the present incumbent But there are many things about the Colonel that even a Southerner is bound to admire One is the time he caused the regiment of negro soldiers that shot up Brownsville to be dishonorably discharged He could have raised himself still higher in our estimation had he turned the offending negroes over to Texas courts to be dealt with and had that course been pursued there is little doubt but there would have been a few legal hangings But there are other things for which the ex president is to be admired Years ago a daughter of Gen Sam Houston was induced to accept the position of postmistress in a small village At that time the receipts of office were so small that the salary was not sufficient to induce men to apply for the office But the village grew to be a town of 5000 or more population, and of course the salary of the postmistress grew in proportion It was then that some fellow who had voted the Republican ticket applied for the job Petitions protesting against the removal of the postmistress were sent in, but it appears from the following that it would have made no difference to Roosevelt whether any one protested or not Here's his reply to the petitioners "I appreciate your interest and loyalty in this matter but advise you that the petition is a needless waste of time So long as I am President of the United States the daughter of Sam Houston will never be dismissed from government service."

A strenuous effort is being made to cripple the smaller newspapers of the country and to financially embarrass the larger ones A meeting is to be held in Kansas City tomorrow to try to save the small telegraphic service of the Associated Press papers in cities of this size Since the Bell Telephone company swallowed up the Western Union Telegrapph company it has been trying to force the smaller newspapers to take their newspaper reports by telephone This means hardship upon the papers and a severe cost to the accuracy of the reports as all realize that it is impossible to get names and dates correctly always by phone In addition to this the same forces are attempting to discontinue special telegrraph rates to newspapers What does it mean? Is this a move on the part of the big money interest to throttle publicity and get a strangle hold upon the financial affairs of this country? It would look so The thing that has done more for the country than other has been the publicity of the newspapers Take away the telegraphic reports by placing a prohibitive price upon them and the newspapers of the country and one of the best safety devices to the country will have been destroyed. Every effort is being made to cripple and curtail the newspapers of the country The postoffice rules are being made as irksome as possible. State laws are encumbering them. Is there a secret scheme at work? What of the future when all these plans have worked out?—Independence (Kas.) Reporter.

What the telegraph and telephone trust is doing in Kansas, has already been accomplished in Texas. The Times is required to pay by the minute for the use of the long distance phone, and the number of words secured during a specified time depends largely if not altogether on the efficiency of the man at the receiving end to take the report and the working of the wires. It is more often than not that during a ten minutes run some one will cut in on the wire, and then two or three minutes are lost before it is possible to get things straightened out The result is that the newspaper is required to pay for service it does not receive. The Times has been getting its A. P. report by the telephone for the past six months, and instead of the service improving, it becomes worse. The charges are just about the same as if the report came by telegraph. The saving to the telegraph company is that it can substitute $6 and $8 per week girls to handle the telephone business, and these girls take the places of telegraph operators whose salaries range from $15 to $25 per week. It is a great saving for the telegraph company, but is hard on the newspapers that are required to pay telegraph tolls for a telephone service that is anything but first-class.

WILSON THE GENTLEMAN.

"In addition to all his other attributes Governor Wilson is a gentleman at all times," says the York (Pa.) Gazette "The excitement and turmoil of a presidential campaign are not sufficient to overthrow his poise or to excite him to intemperate language. He has been the target of enough misrepresentation, extending all the way from statements based upon a misunderstanding of his position to malicious perversion of facts with intent to deceive, to make excusable some display of temper. But he has kept cool. Particularly galling must have been the language of the Third Termer. But he has remained unmoved.

"In his address before the New York Press Club, Governor Wilson took occasion to discuss the Roosevelt party. Instead of the intemperate and at times insulting manner in which Roosevelt has treated him, the governor paid a high tribute to the really honest members of that party that must make them hang their heads in same when comparing it to the attacks made upon Wilson and Democracy by their leader and some of their organs. It is a speech that ought to be read by all men. It is the message to real men It is not the hysterical exclamation of a man with a grievance which he exalts into a cause.

"After paying a high tribute to those who really believe in the Roosevelt cause, Governor Wilson calmly and carefully points out the very obvious fact that, even if their candidate should be elected, he could not at all carry out the program which the party has laid down He does not feel called upon to denounce any man as a liar or a crook or assert that anyone is guilty of false pretense, but contents himself with calling attention to the great mistake being made by those who hope to accomplish anything through this movement

In a gentlemanly manner he tells the public that the Democratic party has been progressive for sixteen years, and that through it, and it alone, can come the relief demanded, which is strictly true Nor does he fool because he is a real Republican He lays the blame right where it belongs when he says that that party has been misled by its leaders until now it is helpless and hopeless He lays no claim to divinity or infallibility on his part or that of his party, but shows that of all parties it is the one best adapted to the present needs of the public It is no wonder that he is gaining strength so rapidly He fully deserves it all.

OPTIMISTIC SENATOR CULBERSON.

Senator Culberson is home "fit and in the best of health" says newspaper accounts and he is in an optimistic mood The senior senator believes that the man he helped to secure the Democratic nomination for the presidency will win a decisive victory this fall In Charles A Culberson the New Jersey governor found a valiant friend a wise adviser and a useful political ally Senator Culberson did not hesitate long in deciding upon his choice for the nomination when the lists were first opened He picked the winner then and now he says he is picking the winner for the presidency

Mr. Culberson is a man of good judgment. When he speaks the public knows that he has thoroughly made up his mind and then all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't change him. He is most often right and the rest of the time only the bravest attempt to challenge him The best news Woodrow Wilson has received to date is that Senator Culberson says he is going to win.

This means that President Wilson will probably tender to a Texan the portfolio of secretary of state, which will be refused because the Texan believes the position of senator from the Lone Star State, next to president, is the biggest job an American can hold.

Things look optimistic.—Dallas Times-Herald.

DON'T EAT MORE THAN ONE PER CENT OF YOUR WEIGHT

Harvey W. Wiley, formerly chief of the United States Bureau of Chemistry, writes an interesting article entitled "Intelligent Eating" in the October Woman's Home Companion He says in part:

"Every pound of useless fat which the human being carries is an impediment of proper activity A man six feet tall should weigh approximately two hundred pounds If by strict attention to his diet and exercise he can reduce this weight to 190 or 185 pounds, it would probably prove beneficial, but if his weight is allowed to rise to 210, 220, 230 or even 240 pounds, he unfits himself to that extent for his duties.

"Let everyone who is accustomed to physical exercise, and suited thereto, climb a long steep hill. If his weight is normal and his health good he can do this without any very great fatigue; let him then begin at the foot of the hill and carry a weight of forty pounds, and note the effect that this will have The man who weighs forty pounds more than he should—and there are thousands of them in this land of ours—is forced constantly to carry this quite unnecessary handicap.

"Food for special activities, or special public or private duties, is a matter which has not received any very great scientific attention. No set amount of food can be arbitrarily chosen for the brain worker or other professional man. In general it may be said that a man of little exercise will eat less than one per cent of his weight of dry food per day. Any marked excess of food, or excessively starchy or sugary food, must also be avoided by the man and woman of sedentary habits."

WHAT ONE WOMAN'S SUICIDE MEANS.

The suicide of the white wife of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, has a sociological interest by reason of its bearing on the question of racial intermarriage. Some time before she killed herself the unfortunate woman is reported to have said: "I am tired of being a social outcast. Even the negroes don't respect me; they hate me."

Ostracism was the inevitable penalty of this ill-assorted marriage, as it is of marriage between white men and negro women. Political equality under the Constitution is one thing, but a degree of social equality admitting of the intermarriage of the races is impossible. Nature has forbidden the bands with an authority that no law of man can override.

Doubtless irregular alliances between blacks and whites will always occur and the birth of an Alexandre Dumas serves only to confute theories. But marriage under such conditions is bound to prove hateful to either race. Statutes may sanction it, but public sentiment no less than racial instinct never will

The white woman who marries a negro husband and the negro wife of a white husband may always expect the contempt of their kind. In that fact lies the country's protection against the bogy of miscegenation which the fears of the South at one time magnified into a real danger.—New York World.
